

HELPING YOU HELP OTHERS ... BECAUSE PEOPLE MATTER

In the past several decades, Non-Profit Organizations (NPOs) have witnessed vast changes in how they must run their organizations, record contributions and present financial statements. Accounting and financial reporting rules and standards have changed dramatically, adding more complex requirements and challenges to an already tough job. The global economic climate has also made it more difficult to fund and sustain their missions.

Because today's NPOs face even more voluminous financial responsibilities than in previous times, your organization needs more than just determination and a good heart to remain a viable exempt organization. Being accountable to multiple stakeholders, including private and institutional donors; local, state, and federal agencies; volunteers; and program recipients makes it critical to manage your organization as efficiently and responsibly as possible. Working with financial experts who understand the complexities faced by NPOs is critical not only to your survival, but to your future growth as well.

At RSJ, we understand that with tight budgets and limited staff, NPOs need special care and better solutions in the way you handle your finances. Through our participation and volunteering in non-profit organizations' boards, we have learned what is necessary for NPO's to function effectively. We offer the kind of strategic and tactical non-profit-specific guidance that helps you manage and sustain your growth.

RSJ's professionals will also provide you with valuable insight into your day-to-day operations, accounting systems and processes. Our added value rests not only in our unique suite of expertise in the areas of auditing and tax preparation, but also in business consulting, outsourcing, technology and compliance – areas in which rapid changes frequently occur and up-to-date knowledge is essential.

At RSJ, we're wonderfully passionate about non-profit accounting. Not just because we truly understand NPOs, but more importantly ... we believe in them.
